The Nugget is California's Leading Mining Weekly

Nevada City Nugget

VOLUME IV, NUMBER 24 THE GOLD CENTER NEVADA CITY, NEVADA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA. THE COUNTY SEAT PAPER APRIL 28, 1930

MINING NUMBER NEARLY READY FOR THE PRESS

Work on the second annual mining number of The Nugget is progressing satisfactorily after delays due to late arrival of copy. The pages are being made up as rapidly as the copy is set and will be ready for the press in a couple of weeks.

Two of the leading articles are worthy of especial note. One on the economic side of the gold mining industry is the first of its kind ever to be written so far as we have been able to learn. It is from the facile pen of Congressman Englebright who has delved deep into the congressional ilbrary for information on the subject and he has produced an excellent article and one which should attract much attention The other one is by Edward C. Uren on the geology of this section of the state which is written in plain understandable language.

Calls are coming in rapidly for copies of the edition which will be printed on book paper with a colored cover. In addition to the listing of the mines of Nevada county, the mines of Sierra county are also given with their owners or agents and their addresses.

There are less than a hundred of the first issue remaining and anyone wishing a copy of that issue should call before they are entirely exhausted.

EDUCATIONAL MEETING DRAWS LARGE CROWD

The public schools week educational meeting drew a large audience to the high school auditorium on Wednesday night and the program was thoroughly enjoyed. Prof. William Meyer of Lick Observatory on Mt. Hamilton was the Principal speaker and his remarks anent the eclipse were timely and thoroughly appreciated.

The professor left Thursday morning for Camptonville to arrange for photographing the eclipse at the observatory set up by the scientists.

Several songs were rendered by the second and third graders under the direction of Miss Agnes O'Neill Mrs. Gove Celio with Miss Minnie Brand as accompanist gave several pleasing vocal selections.

An entertaining cooking school has been conducted at Downieville several days the past week by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company to encourage a wider use of electricity in the home. Mrs. Jessie Scott was in charge of the school and H. S. Furlong of Auburn represented the sales division of the company. An entertainment was given at Memorial Hall Saturday to close the school, which was followed by a dance.

ECLIPSE ATTRACTS MANY TOWARD CAMPTONVILLE

Camptonville is the center of the universe today for the scientific world and three universities have set up special photographic apparatus with which to record the eclipse. The University of California, Pomona University and John Hopkins University of Baltimore all are represented with cameras while two airplanes from Mather Field will hover overhead in the event that the clouds interfere. The Joubert ranch is the scene of much activity.

Both the Fox and Paramount movie outfits equipped for making the sound effects passed through town yesterday enroute for Camptonville.

J. Rude has purchased the Mathilda Davidson residence on Walworth avenue and will remodel it for rental purposes.

Placer county Elks attending the joint session of Nevada City-Grass Valley meeting of Elks lodges were, P. V. Cannon, W. B. Flynn, A. R. Campbell, C. H. Silva, and J Campbell.

ANNEX MINING COMPANY ENTERS LOCAL FIELD

J. R. Day of Lodi has bonded the Last Chance and Hardscrabble patented mining claims in Sec. 32 T17 R9 to C. S. Parks of Ingomar, Pa., for $5000 for a period of five years

Parks in turn has transferred the property over to the Annex Mining Company which proposes to operate and develop the property. This is a Delaware corporation.

The property lies just north of the Western Merger surface plant on the Davis property on the Bloomfield road.

CHARLES HEGARTY IS BUYING UP MINES

Charles A. Hegarty, mining magnate of the Snow Point district, has purchased from Leslie J. and Cecil S. Hegarty, the Standard and Coon quartz claims. From William Keating, Grace Davis, A. H. Davis, Dolores Igstadter, James Igstadter, James Rourke, Hazel Rourke, Carl Kelsey, Annie Paine, M. M. Coughlan, Ethel Coughlan, Dan Powers and Lon Paine he has taken over the Senator, Wonder and Washington placer claims.

SEAWELL GETS BOOST FROM HERBERT SLATER

Assemblyman Jerry Seawell gets a fine handout in the political column conducted in the Santa Rosa Press Democrat by that veteran Senator Herbert W. Slater as follows:

"A Placer county friend tells me that Assemblyman Jerry Seawell is likely ao have no opposition for reelection. This is undoubtedly gratifying to my young friend, who is completing his first term in the legislature. Mr. Seawell at Sacramento in the 1929 session demonstrated his keen interest in the desires of the people of his district and did remarkably well for a first termer".

FISHING SEASON OPENS UP ON NFXT THURSDAY

Thursday will see the nimrods taking to the creeks and rivers to test their skill on the finny tribe. It is not likely that good fishing can be expected before June on account of the high muddy waters from the melting snows. Local stores reports a heavy call for supplies already.

ODD FELLOWS GAVE A CELEBRATION PARTY

To properly celebrate the 111th anniversary of the founding of the Odd Fellows order, Oustomah Lodge on Saturday night entertained its members and wives, Odd Fellows' widows and Rebekahs. Each Rebekah was privileged to invite a friend. An interesting program was given followed by dancing and refreshments.

ROADS BEING OPENED

The North Bloomfield stage road is now open to a point above Graniteville a short ways. At the Hall ranch above there is yet several feet of snow which is melting fast.

The Forest Service is building a road from Scott Flat to a connection with the new Ukiah Tahoe highway in the vicinity of the Burton& Reed sawmill, which will prove a great convenience.

NITERNAL REVENUERS BUSY

Members of the Nevada County Golf Association received some nice surprise packages the past few days in the form of bills for war taxes on dues paid to the association.

MINING PERSONALS

Al Adams has returned to the Black Hawk mine at Sierra City to complete installing of machinery at the new mill.

William Lichtenberg of the Brush Creek mine was a Nevada City business visitor.

Ignition Rock and Accession at Miner's Equality. 2dF

GRAVEL HOLDING INSPECTED HERE BY CAPITALISTS

A party of capitalists were in the North Bloomfield section last week inspecting the thousands of acres of unmined gravel deposits belonging to the River Mines Company, S. P. Eastman former president of the Spring Valley Water Company and executive head of the W. B. Bourne interests, headed the party which was escorted by George W. Starr of Grass Valley.

The River Mines Company has large vested water rights in Lake Bowman which will enable operation of the extensive gravel holdings of the company which are likely to get under way within the next few years. The Bourne interests were fortunate in maintaining their water rights so as t o make it possible to resume mining.

PATENT CONTEST GETS A HEARING IN COURT

Echoes of former mining litigation came to light in superior court Friday fhen an application for patent for certain mining claims near Washington was protested by Fred De Wein, husband of the former owner of the properties. The patent which is being applied for by J. H. Stark et al of Oakland as a placer patent is being protested on the ground that the mineral deposit occurs in the form of a lode. E. C. Galbraith appearing for the government tsetified that the deposit was in the form of a lode. The testimony is being forwarded to the land office for decision.

Attorney Lynne Kelly appeared for De Wein, while James Snell of Hollister, and Frank T. Smith of Berkeley and C. F. Kimball f San Franciso appeared for Stark.

AERIAL TRAMWAY NEAR FINISH TO EMPIRE MINE

The new aerial tramway to connect the North Star and Empire mines is expected to be put into commission this week and introduces a new note into trasportation of gold ore in this county. The installation of the tramway will center the milling operations of the Newmont interests at the Empire plant.

The equipment for the tramway with the exception of the wooden supporting towers was brought from Mason Valley, Nevada.

The line crosses the Auburn highway just below the Grass Valley city limits.

TAXES ARE DELINQUENT AFTER TODAY, MUCH DUE

Nearly $40,000 of the final installment of county taxes remained unpaid at the closing hour Saturday and with the zero hour set at five this afternoon, some of our citizens will have to be hustling.

MRS. CURNOW PASSES

Mrs. Mary Curnow, wife of John Curnow of Cherokee, passed away at an early Saturday morning at the Nevada City Sanitarium, where she had been brought a few days previous for treatment. Funeral services are to be held from the Holmes Funeral Home this afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. C. W. Pearson.

Born in England in 1855, she married Mr. Curnow there and they came in 1885 to California and took up their residence at Cherokee where they had since made their home. They spent some time at North Bloomfield and in this city.

Born of this union were three sons John A., Thomas G. and Herbert, and a daughter, Mrs. Ray Sparnon of Grass Valley, who with the sorrowing husband and father survive. Of a quiet, retiring disposition, Mrs. Curnow was loved by all with whom she came in contact and her passing will be widely mourned.

Mrs. Mary Brill of San Francisco visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Caribeno Orzalli and family recently

JERRY SEAWELL GETS GLAD HAND FROM ELECTORS

Assemblyman Jerrold Seawell has been in Sierra county for several days acquainting himself with the voters of that county and hearing from them first hand their wishes in regard to legislation. Sierra together with Plumas and Lassen counties have been tacked onto this assembly district by the reapportionment measure and proctically doubles the size of the district.

Jerry expressed himself as highly pleased at the reception always accorded him in Nevada county which turned out so handsomely in the general election two years ago to swamp his opponent. He states that he found Sierra county very sympathetic to his candidacy as anyone who is a friend of the mining industry always finds a warm welcome there. His fight in behalf of the hydraulic mining industry in the last legislautre has won him many friends everywhere.

ANDALUSITE MINING IS GOING AHEAD IN MONO

The mine of the Champion Sillimanate, Incorporated, at Laws, Mono county, is going ahead steadily with good production. The ore which is andalusite is shipped to Detroit, Michigan, where it is milled and melted into spark plug porcelains. The refined product is said to provide a highly satisfactory porcelain and the mine which has been producing steadily for the past six years has a good body of ore exposed for extraction.

C. D. Woodehouse, manager of the company, was a Nevada City visitor Friday and left some samples of andalusite at The Nugget office which are in the windows and attracting much attention. Mr. Woodehouse has made several trips to Graniteville where Mrs. Woodhouse loves to vacation.

BOREHAM PLANT NEARS COMPLETION FOR WORK

With the cutting in of electric power the next few days, the new surface plant at the Boreham mine south of town, will be ready for operations.

The company proposes to sink its present 200 foot shaft an additional 400 feet at once and cut into the rich orebodies exposed on the upper levels. Sufficient drifting and crosscutting was done on the present levels to demonstrate the presence of excellent milling ore. The mine is in a strategic location to develop a real producer.

A. O. Witte of Los Angeles is president. Austin Boreham is superintendent.

CARTER NAMES NETTLE AS HIS DEPUTY SHERIFF

Sheriff George R. Carter has named Jack Nettle of Grass Valley as deputy sheriff to succeed Arthur F. Hellings, resigned. Nettle is an ex-service man and a native of this county. He is a member of the American Legion and head of its bugle corps. He has entered upon his new duties.

MEYER IS VISITOR

T. J. Meyer was up from French Corral on Friday to transact business. He was accompanied by his son C. C. Meyer, his sister, Mrs. Laura Hardenbrook and her daughter, Miss Mabel Hardenbrook, and John Butler of Los Angeles. Young Meyer who has been working in the Mare Island Navy Yard has been in Los Angeles for some time and said he was glad to get home again. Teejay has some promising copper properties in his district which he has been developing, as well as some good paying gravel ground.

J. B. Sullivan has sold his Coyote street residence to Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Wood of Alleghany who will ccupy it.

NEW STAMP MILL SACRED MOUND MINE

SIERRA CITY, April 26, (Special to The Nugget)—A new ten stamp mill is being erected on the Sacred Mount property owned by Mrs. Richard Phelan. The property is under bond to the California Buttes Mining Company with T. W. Callender as superintendent.

Quite a bit of development work was done several years ago by this company when T. Leonard Parks was directing its affairs. Mr. Parks is no longer connected with the company which is composed of Southern California capitalists.

The property was equipped with a 75 ton rod mill but company is now going back to the old fashioned stamps.

A cnsiderable amount of fabricating work for the new plant is being done by the Miners Foundry of Nevada City.

DIPPER MINE SHOWS SOME GOOD PROSPECTS

Frank Nelson was down from the Alleghany section Thursday and reports that the property is a good looking prospect. He and his brother have been developing the property and have the tunnel in good shape and are in a good distance at the present time.

IRRIGATION DISTRICT TAKES TITLE TO LAND

By virtue of deeds placed on record the past week with the county recorder, the Nevada Irrigation District has taken over 110 tracts of land on which the recent land tax was not paid. Unless redeemed within three years the title to the tracts is vested in the irrigation district.

There are a number of mining companies listed among them being the Alcalde Gold Mines Company, Banner Development Company, Ideal Gold Mining Company, New Monte Christo Mining Company, New Phoenix Gold Mine, Niagara Mining Company, St. Louis Cons. Gold Mining Company and the Powning Gold & Silver Mining Company. The Central Pacific is also among the listed ones

A couple of familiar names appear among the individuals. The name of A. L. Wisker is noted as well as that of Ivan H. Parker, who made a nice turnover of a damsite on the Bear river to the district at a good price, which damsite isn't proving of much worth as yet to the landowners.

BENNETTS IS NAMED NEVADA CITY MAYOR

R. J. Bennetts, long time trustee, was at a special meeting of the city board last week, named as mayor of Nevada City for the coming term.

The board canvassed the election returns and certified Messrs. Bennetts and Fred C. Worth as trustees, George H. Calanan as clerk and Mrs. Emma Foley as treasurer.

Mayor Bennetts named as his committees the following: streets, Worth; sewers and finance, Seaman; lights, C. R. Murchie; water, Armstrong.

The regular meeting of the board for May will be held next week owing to the fact that the first Thursday this month falls on the 1st and according to the ordinance, the meeting is held on the first Thursday after the first day.

HEMLER IS VISITOR

C. C. Hemler who is associated with the California Aclare Mining Company operating near Forest was a Nevada City visitor Saturday. Hemler who is an experienced mining man is much taken with the looks of this country from a mining standpoint.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon M. Bettles have purchased the Noell property on Aristocracy Hill and will remodel it for their home. Mr Bettles is general manager of the Yellow Tiger Consolidated interests.

Harland Pierce is suffering from an injury to his hand casued by the puncture of a rusty nail.

KIMMEL RESIGNS AS SECRETARY OF MINING MEN

At the recent meeting of the directors of the Mining Association of California held at Sacramento, the resignation of R. L. Kimmel as active secretary in charge of the Sacramento headquarters was regretfully received as he is going to Modesto as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce there. C. S. Brooks was named to serve as secretary without remuneration until financing arrangements can be completed. Mr. Brooks has been one of the enthusiastic workers in the cause of organizing the mining industry and his willingness to serve the association is most commendable. The financial report of the secretary showed that $1489.14 had been collected in dues and advertising and $1114.93 had been expended.

The membership report shows that the local Chapter is tied for first place with 126 active members on the list, the Northern California chapter having also that same number. Amador county now boasts 89 members, Calaveras 54, Sacramento 48, and El Dorado 20. Scattering from other counties gives well over 500 members in 6 month of work.

The association is reported as not making much headway in San Francisco due to reluctance of mining men there to work in a movement originating in the back country. The A. I. M. E. and Metal & Mineral Producers Association are also listed as not being enthusiastic. It is hoped to have the membership to 1000 by the time the association is a year old.

The legislative committee through its chairman, Assemblyman Roscoe good progress in formulating a program of state legislation and preparing for the coming legislative session. The legislative committee includes Mr. Anderson, Jerry Seawell, H. L. Englebright, A. S. Howe, Harold Cloudman, Charles L. Gilmore, B. A. Cassidy.

The Nugget and the Morning Union are both mentioned in the secretary's report as giving widespread publicity on mining matters and splendid support. Talkies have been taken of the gold dredgers at Natomas and at the North Fork hydraulic mine in Trinity county, by the Fox Movietone people and will be released throughout the country. This will be a splendid boost for the gold mining industry.

The committee on the mining insurance company reported excellent progress and with solicitors working in San Francisco and Los Angeles it is expected that the 100 signatures necessary to secure a charter will be shortly obtained. A financing plan has been worked out which will prove especially attractive to the operators who have had to tie up large sums of moneys for advance premiums with the state fund.

An amendment to the constitution whereby the chairmen of the various chapters are ex-officio directors of the state association, which will give each chapter direct representation on the governing board.

PEARDALE MEETING LARGELY ATTENDED

The meeting of the Peardale Farm Center on Friday night was largely attended on account of the road boosters being present to discuss the proposed improvement of the road to Colfax. A delegation from the Grass Valley Lions Club which has been sponsoring the project with the support of Supervisor Henry Goudge, was on hand to present the details of the plan which already has the tentative support of the board of supervisors. The plan was enthusiastically endorsed as it was at the recent meeting at Chicago Park.

W. B. Sellick, editor of the Superior California Deparment of the Sacramento Bee, passed thru Nevada City enroute home from a trip to Camptonville, where he had been in the interests of his paper.

Employment of Glaze for Ornamentation Old

Among a race as gifted as the Chinese, neither the spirit of inventiveness, which originates new objects and processes of manufacture, nor the love of adventure which by means of travel imports them from abroad, were ever wholly absent, and it is often difficult to prove to which of these two agencies any particular novelty owes its introduction. However, as regards glaze, importation from abroad does seem the most likely. For one thing it was a very ancient possession of the West.

Even before the Pyramids rose out of the sands of the desert, a lovely turquoise glaze had been discovered by the Egyptian artisans. And twenty centuries later the dream city of the Pharoah Akhnation gleamed like a jewel against a cloudless horizon, the lintel of its gates, the walls of its palaces, the pillars of its temples, the cornices of its roofs inlaid with a fairylike mosaic of multi-colored glazes. From Egypt glaze spread over western Asia into the full pride of Babylon, unless invented there independently, which is quite as likely. While the baked clay of China was still innocent of all luster, Assyrian potentates decorated their architecture with lions and griffins, stepping out majestically in friezes of richly colored glazed tiles. This resplendent art was continued by the Persian king of kings, by the Seleucids and the Arsacids and beyond into the days of Islam.—From "Porcelain Pagodas and Palaces of Jade" by A. E. Grantham.

Holstein Cattle Winter in Luxurious Quarters

Speaking of the winter care given the famous Holstein cattle by the dairymen of Friesland, Holland, the National Geographic society says: "Barn and dwelling are under one roof, which rises high into the sky in order to provide loft space for the immense amount of hay needed as cattle feed during the long winter. The whole gives the appearance of a one-story cottage pushed low into the earth by weight of an immense pointed roof, which reaches above the tops of the tall trees lining the roadway.

"A hall separates the living quarters of the farmer's family from space set aside for cows, which as a rule is the larger portion of the house. Visitors testify that these barns are spotless and odorless. Each stall is sanded and has a window of its own, inevitably decorated with a fresh white window curtain. Every cow has a bath daily and many of their tails are tied up with ribbon."

Quick Cure for Obesity

As Falstaff, Sir Herbert Tree wore a rubber suit, which was blown up like a bicycle tire for the enormous size necessary for Falstaff, writes Constance Collier in "Harlequinade: The Story of My Life." It was a continuous duel between Ellen Terry and Herbert Tree as to who should get the better of the other. They would think out elaborate jokes. But one day the joke went too far. Ellen Terry took a hatpin and stuck it into Tree's enormous belly at the beginning of a long scene. Falstaff slowly began to deflate, and when the scene ended he came off with his clothes hanging in festoons around him. Ellen Terry was nowhere to be seen. She had locked herself in her dressing room.

Straw Not Forbidden to Children of Israel

Whether or not the first brickmaker lived in a past 12,000 years distant, excavations at Ur of the Chaldees, the city of Abraham, have yielded brick tablets inscribed with information concerning a people of 6,000 years ago. If the Old Testament account is accepted the tower of Babel was built of brick, for "they said one to another: Go to, let us make brick and burn them thoroughly." And Holy Writ carries its reminder that brickmaking was known to the early Egyptians. Down through the ages has come allusion to bricks without straw, although the Children of Israel were not, as a matter of fact, required to make bricks without that binding material:

"And Pharaoh commanded the same day the task masters of the people, and their officers, saying:

"Ye shall no more give the people straw to make brick as heretofore; let them go and gather straw for themselves."—Boston Transcript.

Florid Epitaph Common in Revolutionary Days

"Stop, Passenger," begins an epitaph, dated 1781, on a stone in a cemetery in Elizabeth, N. J., "here lie the remains of a woman who exhibited to the world a bright constellation of the female virtues. On that memorable day, never to be forgotten, when a British foe invaded this fair village and fired even the temple of the Deity, this peaceful daughter of Heaven retired to her hallowed apartment, imploring Heaven for the pardon of her enemies. In that sacred moment she was by the bloody hand of a British ruffian dispatched like her Divine Redeemer through a path of blood to her long wished-for native skies." There were few brief epitaphs in those early days. It was apparently regarded as a lack of reverence to fail to enumerate the virtues of the departed, and as a disregard of opportunity to fail to warn the "passengers" of what was in store for them.

Once Famous Port

Though Cowes is now almost synonymous with pleasure yachting, the little town was famous for its dockyards long before the annual regatta was thought of, says "Looker On" in the London Daily Chronicle. Many a tall ship for war or merchant service came off the slips at Cowes in the old days, including Nelson's famous Vanguard, and during the World war its shipyards were adapted again to contribute worthily to British naval strength, both in regard to new building and repairs. How the town came by its name has some interest. Really the names is plural, and derives from the two "cowes" or circular forts, which Henry VIII erected to guard the entrance to Portsmouth harbor. One fort is now the headquarters of the Royal Yacht squadron.

Dog Saved Browning

Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett did not elope alone. Miss Barrett's lap dog went along.

"Not because the lovers wanted it particularly," Dr. Andreas Bard informed the Kansas City Browning society at a luncheon, "but because they were afraid to leave it behind. One bark would have spoiled everything. Miss Barrett's father disapproved of the intended marriage.

"Think of it—the future of Browning poetry resting with a little dog. If that little dog had yapped, very likely there would have been no Browning society and, what is worse, none of those exquisite poems written by Mr. and Mrs. Browning after their marriage."—Kansas City Star.

COZY CORNER CHAT

THE SPLENDID MENTION of Jerry Seawell in the well known political column of Senator Herb Slater in the Santa Rosa Press Democrat gives a good idea of what the knowing ones in other parts of the state think of what Jerry tried to do for his district in his first term at Sacramento. It would be a splendid compliment to our assemblyman if there were no opposition to his candidacy in Nevada county.

THE RECEPTION GIVEN our efforts to provide an acceptable enlarged paper for our growing list of readers was a welcome one from all quarters and many compliments have been pouring in by word of mouth and by letter since last Monday. It will be a task to get the plant tuned up to the new schedule. The enlarged size will make possible many new features that would have cramped our smaller page issue and we hope to introduce them from time to time as we get under way. It is a real sized task to provide a feast of reading matter every week, fresh and spicy and replete with local interest.

WITH OUR NEW INDUSTRY nearly ready to get under way, Nevada City and county can confidently look forward to an era of industrial activity which will place our community somewhat stronger on the map than it has been for some years past. Our mining is coming along nicely and attracting a considerable amount of attention on the outside and with the turpentine refinery getting under way after a long period of development, we can expect to see real dollars pouring into the town. Our new industry looks to be a real comer.

THE SELECTION OF R. J. Bennetts as mayor of Nevada City comes as a deserved compliment to one of our leading citizens and boosters. Dick Bennetts is possessed of a spirit of wanting to do something for his home town and he is always doing some civic job of some kind. Such a spirit found in a number of citizens means a live, going community. Dick's willingness to serve could well be emulated.

THE DEPARTURE OF Walter Waynflete from Truckee removes one of Nevada county's promising young newspapermen. Walter had done a lot of good publicity work for the east end of the county while he was there the past year and brought a great deal of prominence for the town. The best wishes of a large number of his friends will follow him to his new field of endeavor in Southern California. The Truckee Republican is losing a good editor.

THE FINAL WORK in the enumeration of the citizens of the county is now under way and those who wish to be counted in Uncle Sam's decennial census will have to hurry. If there are any not yet counted they should make that fact known at once.

WITH THE COMING of spring, the gardening fever seems to be prevalent everywhere and the housewife may be seen with a trowel busily engaged in beautifying the yard. Nursery catalogs occupy a prominent place in the family library nowadays. Making a pretty yard makes for a prettier town and community. Keep up the good work. Why not some prizes offered for the best looking yards? AAW

Wisdom of Antoninus

For a man can lose neither the past nor the future; for how can one take from him that which is not his? So remember these two points: First, that each thing is of like form from everlasting and comes round again in its cycle and that it signifies not whether a man shall look upon the same things for a hundred years or two hundred, or for an infinity of time; second, that the longest lived and the shortest lived man, when they come to die, lose one and the same thing.—Marcus Aurelius Antoninus (121-180 A. D.). "Meditations."

Craze for Hairdressing

In the early Eighteenth century hairdressing in France reached its peak. Literally. Many court ladies wore their hair piled so high that they could not sit in coaches but had to kneel or hold their heads out of the windows. It is said that in Paris in 1730 there were 1,200 hairdressers. They were probably kept busy, since it often took an entire day to dress the hair. However, the women who wore it in the most elaborate fashion had it done only about once a month.—Detroit News.

Cancer of the Skin

Cancer of the skin grows slowly and is not particularly malignant. It is possible to cure practically all individuals suffering from this form of the disease, says the American Public Health association, provided they seek aid at an early stage of the disease.

Wanted to See the Fight

Joseph Van Raalte tells of a New Yorker who went to see the same theater play every night for two weeks. "You seem to be stuck on this show," the ticket seller said to him one evening.

"No," said the man, "it's this way: You know that part in the second act, where the husband goes out and the lover comes in the fire escape window? Well, some one o' these nights the husband is goin' to forget somethin' an' come back for it an' ketch that bird. An' when he does, I want to be there."—Capper's Weekly.

Many Republics Before That of United States

Probably the first government which can be considered republican in form was the ancient Israelitish commonwealth or republic, which lasted from about 1491 B. C. to 1095 B. C. About three centuries after this the Greek states, of which Athens was chief, set up what gradually came to be democratic republics. Ancient Carthage and Rome were for a short period republics. During the Middle ages many of the free cities of Italy and Germany set up republics. San Marino in Italy is now the oldest existing republic, while Switzerland has existed as a republic since 1291. According to an article in the American Cyclopedia, the degree of popular sovereignty in republics has varied very widely in the past, most of the so-called republics having been ruled by an aristocracy which jealously guarded its own rights but treated the multitude as little better than slaves. "Real republican government may be said to date from the American Declaration of Independence, and even in the United States the government was largely one of class until about the second quarter of the Nineteenth century, when suffrage barriers began to break down."

Temperature and Earth

Only a few feet of earth on the very surface is affected by the daily range in temperature. There is then a larger layer upon which neither the surface temperature nor the temperature of the inside of the earth has any effect. Then comes the layer where the temperature of the earth increases one degree for every 50 to 75 feet one goes into the interior of the earth. The cold water comes from the layer which is unaffected by temperatures from within the earth or on the surface of the earth. In some places we have thermo springs where the water comes from a depth below this in the region which is influenced by the heat from within the earth.

MILLER KILLS WOLF

A large female gray timber wolf was killed last week by Archie Miller, caretaker at the German Bar mine on the Middle Yuba river.

Hearing a yelping he set out with his trusty fowling piece and his dog and soon ran into the wolf, which instead of taking to the brush headed directly for him with fangs bared. When 20 yards distant, Miller pulled the trigger and badly wounded the critter which took to the river. A second shot finished the job. The pelt when skinned proved a particularly fine one. Miller is trying to locate a den of pups thought to be nearby.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Pierce of Richfield visited in Nevada Citl last week end.

MEUREN'S TALK ENJOYED

The talk of corret lighting methods in the home was much enjoyed at the Lions Club luncheon on Tuesday. He had a number of lighting fixtures on display to illustrate his talk. Mr. Meuren also sang several enjoyable selections, he being a talented tenor soloist.

Mexican Coat of Arms Traced to Aztec Fable

That the name "Mexico" comes from "mexictli," the Aztec word for the native maguey or pulque plant, is the conclusion of Enrique Juan Palacios, of the Mexican direction for archeology, who has searched for its origin in native Indian documents, as well as in other sources of information. Every Mexican school child knows that his national coat-of-arms is an adaptation of the ancient Aztec hieroglyph or place-name for "Tenochtitlan," as pre-conquest Mexico City was called. Mexico's shield, therefore, is at least six centuries old. It represents an eagle in mortal struggle with a snake, which he holds with one claw and his beak. With the other claw he is balanced on a spiny nopal cactus growing on a rock in the middle of a lake. This picturization of an extremely difficult position illustrates the Aztec fable of the founding of the ancient city that is now the capital of the Mexican republic.

"Sweeping the Board"

To refer to anyone as having swept the board is to say of him or intimate that he overcame all opposition, triumphed over whatever obstacles confronted him and so achieved a spectacular victory.

Like several other metaphorical expressions that have gained common currency, this one has its origin in the patois of the card table.

For in playing cards, when one of the participants swept the board, he secured everything, that is, won all the stakes on the board or table.

Concerning the Law

The true view, as I submit, is that the law is what the judges declare; that statutes, precedents, the opinions of learned experts, customs, and morality are the sources of the law; that back of everything lie the opinions of the ruling spirits of the community; who have the power to close any of these sources; but that as long as they do not interfere, the judges, in establishing law, have recourse to these sources.—John Chipman Gray.

FRENCH CORRAL ITEMS

FRENCH CORRAL, Apr. 26, (Special to The Nugget)— The delightful days of April month, are passing all too soon, but like all other of life's pleasures they cannot last. Many autos speed by with their load of happy tourists. We will tell of some that have visited out quiet little burg this past week.

An auto party of friends whose names we did not learn, visited the family of R. E. Dalberg Friday and Saturday.

Clarence Meyers, with relatives, is visiting the family of his father, Thomas Meyers.

A. Browning, who has been working in the Murchie mine at Nevada City for the past month, returned to this place Friday. He met with an accident in which the index finger of his left hand was broken and mashed. It will lay him up for some time.

Miss Millie Clerkin returned to her home near French Corral after visiting for several days with Nevada City and Grass Valley friends.

Mrs. J. W. Culver was tendered a very happy surprise on her birthday April 19th when her son, Will, and her daughter, Mrs. Earl Chatty with Mr. Chatty and their two little sons and his mother and sister, Miss Mabel Chatty, all of San Francisco and his sister, Mrs. B. Langdon of Sacramento, all dropped in on her without any foreword. To say Mrs. Culver was beside herself with joy hardly expresses it. They returned to their homes Sunday afternoon.

W. E. Moulton made his usual business trip to Marysville Saturday On his return trip he was accompanied by his daughter, Frances, who came from Sacramento to spend Easter with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moulton and Richard McMinn accompanied her on her return trip to Sacramento Sunday evening.

Miss Louise Moulton spent the week's end at her home in French Corral.

Misses Catherine and Theresa O'Cnner and brother, Michael, were Nevada City visitors Saturday. Their brother, Arthur O'Conner, came from San Rafael to spend his Easter vacation at his home in Birchville. Mr. O'Conner contemplates an extended tuor of the European continent this summer. He will accompany the St. Marys college alumni who will make a pilgrimage which will begin the middle of June.

R. G. Pinkson of Oakland was soliciting subscriptions for the Delineator Saturday. Mr. Pinkson is working his way through college and hopes to qualify as an M. D. later on.

Clyde and Harry Browning came up from Browns Valley Saturday eve to spend Easter with their family. They made a trip to Grass Valley Sunday afternoon.

Messrs. Foote and Alpers were Sunday visitors.

Mrs. J. Holman and daughter, Mrs. Florence Evans, and son, Jim, and three grandchildren, family of her son, Clifford, all of Marysville, were Sunday visitors. Many years ago the Holoman family resided at Pin eGrove reservoir.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Francescovich and her nephew, Kenneth Jarvis, were Sunday visitors from Marysville

W. P. Clerkin went to his stock range below Browns Valley Monday and returned to this place Thursday

County Assessor Henry Schroeder and his deputy, E. Morgan made their annual trip to this section Monday. The warm friendship that the many years of associations have gained for them make them "welcome as the flowers in May". In fact, French Corral lays a special claim n Henry, who in his boyhood made frequent trips to this place.

Mrs. A. Browning, Miss Clerkin and F. Bean were business visitors at Shady Creek Monday.

J. Swazey and F. Moody from Sberia mine were Monday evening visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Preston and daughters, Barbara and Helen, and son, Howard, of Stockton were visitors from Tuesday to Thursday. Mr. Preston is a radio engineer and inventor of the Permanent Radio Ground. They were all delighted with this lovely country of ours and hope to spend much time here the coming summer.

Mrs. A. Browning and Miss Clerkin had business in Grass Valley Wednesday.

W. P. Clerkin returned from Browns Valley Thursday.

We learn that Ralph Thomas enjoyed a birthday party this week. The occasion being his 24th birthday

Mr. and Mrs. S. Lee Leiter are in San Francisco attending the golden wedding anniversary of his brother, E. T. Leiter and wife of Oakland.

NORTH BLOOMFIELD NEWS

A new home for Forest Ranger E. J. Wylie is being built at North Bloomfield and will replace the former headquarters used by the Forest Service. The house will be of four rooms and completely modern.

Possibility That Great Auk May Still Exist

Does the Great Auk still exist? The last authentic case of one having been seen was in 1843, but "Bird Notes and News" raises the question as to whether a bird which has been seen in the Lofoten islands (off the coast of northern Norway) is not a Great Auk. A writer tells how a Finnish hunter and naturalist saw a strange bird which he could not recognize. He was shown a picture of the Great Northern Diver, but said it was not the same. He was then shown a Razorbill, but declared that the bird was bigger. The book was opened casually at the Great Auk, and he immediately identified it and persisted in his story, which was corroborated even to the identification by an independent witness who had also seen it. The bird was never seen again, but it is possible that on such a wild coast a few Great Auks may have survived.

Unfortunate Early Savant

Henry, Marquis of Villena, a Castilian savant in the reign of John II, studied astronomy so diligently that he lost all run of his worldly affairs and caused a wit of his day to comment sarcastically: "He knew much of heaven and nothing of earth."

His blind neglect of his financial concerns cost him all his possessions and reduced him to extreme penury in his last years. He was suspected of necromancy, and at his death in 1834 the king's ecclesiastical agent threw more than a hundred of his precious books into the flames.—Detroit News.

RESULTS OF THINKING

Benefits from never wasting anything are clearly emphasized if we, as a scientist, would think about the matter, consider our condition and the possiblities of "arriving", if we are prudent.
Just notice how people who save regularly, succeed.
The habit of thrift, putting something away for a rainy day is the best and safest habit to cultivate, to get ahead in the world. Our 4 per cent savings plan is safe, the interest if not withdrawn, is added to the principal, and put to work, earning more interest. Savings banks on request.

Control Erosion by Deep Plowing

Also Helps to Keep Hillsides Planted in Hay and Pasture Crops.

Erosion of the soil not only cuts up many hilly farms with gullies, "washes" or ravines, but it also causes the washing away of much valuable plant food.

Erosion depends upon four things—the distribution of the rainfall, character of the soil, the slope, and the vegetation.

Erosion can be prevented in many instances by increasing the absorbing power of the soil through deep plowing and subsurface drainage, managing the surface of side hills so as to cause the water, when it must run on the surface, to flow through channels of the least possible fall, and keeping hillsides in hay and pasture as much as possible.

It is advisable when plowing hillsides to work crosswise of the slope rather than up and down and it is best to throw the furrow slice up hill, as this returns the soil to a certain extent as used, and on account of the position of the furrow slice permits a larger amount of the water to find its way into the soil than is the case when the furrow slice is turned down hill. A reversible or side-hill plow may be used to advantage. Cultivation should be practiced along the hillside as much as possible rather than up and down, and any small ditch into which water from the cross-rows runs should be protected by grass or by sowing oats.

Hillsides can be further protected by alternating long narrow strips of cultivated crops with grain and hay. Terraces and channels may be developed at intervals on steep hillsides to control the flow of the water when cultivated crops are to be grown.

Ravines and water courses can be protected by stones which to a large extent prevent the removal of the soil, or by grass, the roots of which hold the soil. Sometimes flumes of wood or metal are used in places where the fall of the ditches is steepest. Occasionally the course of the ditch is dammed with wire and brush which catches and holds the soil.

Overdo Evening Feeding Rather Than Underdo It

It is better to overdo the matter of evening feeding a little than to slight it. If a little grain is left in the litter, it will be eagerly scratched out in the morning.

Great care should be taken, however, so to feed that the straw is scratched absolutely free of grain at least once a day. In following this particular routine this should be the condition at noon.

The really skilled feeder is the one who so handles the ration that he constantly piques the appetite of his fowls, making them consume large amounts of feed with relish, yet never giving quite all they would like to consume.

MANIACS CANARIES TANGLE ON MAY 11

The annual baseball fracas between the Main Street Maniacs and the Mill Street Canaries will take place on Sunday May 11th and advance reports are that it will be the hottest one yet registered. The preliminaries in the form of impromptu parades and the like are already in full swing and some new outburst occurs daily. A dance will be staged the night previous to the big fireworks.

THOMASON RELEASED

Owing to the fact that Adolph Baird was so busy getting out of range of J. W. Thomason's gun the other night, he was unable to testify as to whether Thomason was aiming at him or some one else when the case came up for hearing in Judge Mulroy's court last week and the defendant was released on that charge. District Attorney W. E. Wright appeared for the people.

Valuable Outlet

In the critical years of adolescence, when the emotional nature of the young person is in evidence, music is the most valuable outlet for the surplusage of emotion—a veritable safety valve, in fact; not alone the mere passive hearing of music, but more than this, the serious study of music in its executive sense, will do more to hold to the track a youngster tingling with the higglety-pigglety emotion of that period than anything else. Parents who neglect the musical education of their children are ignoring one of the most valuable factors in character advancement.—Exchange.

SMARTVILLE HAPPENINGS

SMARTVILLE, April 26—Mr. and Mrs. David Webster of Sacramento were recent guests of their son and family at the Dempsey ranch.

The Easter sermon preached here by the Rev. Peter Ruf of Grass Valley was much enjoyed by a large audience. Two solos were sung by Ed Bosanko.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Freeman of Marysville were here visiting the first part of the week with relatives

Elmer Harris returned to his home in San Francisco after attending the Colling funeral.

Mrs. Nellie Drussell accompanied her son, Lester, on his return to San Francisco. He was up to spend his Easter vacation.

Dan McGanney of San Francisco has been visiting his sister, Mrs. J. E. Cramsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Nile and son were visitors here from Grass Valley the first of the week.

Mrs. Clark and daughter have returned from a visit with relatives in Vallejo.

Mesdames Ludwig Conrath and Armstrong and Miss Mary Baker of Marysville were recent visitors here.

Two large crews are at work on the state highway near Browns Valley working this way from the end of the oiled pavement. The traveling is soft for quite a ways but the new work will be a great improvement. The highway between Marysville and Grass Valley is in excellent shape for practically its entire length. When once the Pet Hill grade is eliminated our highway will be a fine affair.

The grammar school pupils enjoyed a fine Easter egg hunt and other games dear to children's hearts on Good Friday. Luncheon was served to which ample justice was paid. Miss Catherine Hogan is the teacher

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bristow and daughter were here from Niles to spend Easter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Havey.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hales, Jr., and son, Billie, of Sacramento and William Hales of Newcastle were Easter guests of Mrs. J. H. Warne.

R. R. Beatty and family entertained Mrs. Mary Hill and daughter of Roseville last week.

Mrs. Mary McGovern and children were recent visitors in Marysville as was Mrs. J. Quinkert.

CHEROKEE PROSPERS

CHEROKEE, Apr. 26, (Special to The Nugget) — Mr. and Mrs. John Roth of Sacramento were visiting friends here Tuesday.

Mr Bradbury of Cherokee was a visitor in Nevada City Tuesday.

Mr. Morgan, our deputy assessor was visiting us all Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Kessler returned to their home in Summerland Monday.

Mr. M. Whisler and mother were here the last of the week. Their home is in Cherokee, but Mr. Whisler has work in Sacramento for quite a while where he is doing sign painting. Mr. Whisler does very fine work.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Sage, Jr., are sorry to hear of the death of their twenty four month old baby boy. Its grandparents took it with them to visit some relatives and it slipped out and fell into a ditch which was close to the house. When found it was quite a ways down the ditch stuck in the rock that was in the ditch. The parents have the sympathy of their neighbors and friends here.

Our school now has sixteen scholars the largest on the ridge.

The Holmes ambulance came over Thursday and took Mrs. John Curnow to the Nevada City Sanitarium

R. N. McCormack went to Sacramento on a short businee trip.

C. F. Kimball of San Francisco was here on business.

W. E. Johnson of Berkeley visited his daughter, Mrs. C. O. Brown.

W. J. Walsh arrived from Alleghany to visit her a while.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ronchi of Folsom visited in this city last week

Mr. and Mrs. J. Grenfell of Sacramento visited relatives here Easter

P. H. Hall, formerly of Birchville was a visitor last week.

George and Thomas Wayman of Pike were Nevada City visitors.

W. C. Jensen of Lincoln spent a day last week in this city.

J. P. Coughlan of North Columbia was in this city during the week

A. M. Holmes was a recent Sacramento visitor.

COURT CALENDAR

A special court calendar was called by Superior Judge J. Romeo Hughes of Sacramento on Thursday as follows:

T. M. Harris et al vs Roy and Bessie King—Motion to exclude evidence submitted on refusal of defendants to submit bill of particulars.

Roy J. King vs. Grass Valley Gold Mines Company—Motion to set aside default judgment against defendant submitted. Motion for defendant Mitchell to file an amended answer submitted.

Thomas Sleeman vs. Nevada Irrigation District—Amended demurrer to be submitted on point and authorities.

M. S. Rutherford vs. B. Cooper—Continued by stipulation.

BANDUCCI IS RELEASED

A preliminary hearing before Judge Charles A. Ocker in which Steve Banducci was charged with the murder of D. Verdino, resulted in a decision being given that the evidence was insufficient to hold Banducci. A telephone operator was reported to have a somewhat hazy memory when called to the stand at the hearing.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Sherman and children are hree for a visit with Mrs. E. M. Gregory who has been indisposed.

Gilbert J. Davis who is attending the Chico State Normal spent the weekend here with hismother, Mrs. K. Davis.

Dr. R. F. Werner is attending a medical meeting at Del Monte.

Richard Fischer is visiting relatives in Oakland for a while.

Charles Howlett has been here from Lake City on a visit.

Rare Chinese Pottery

Peachblow ware is the most valuable of Chinese pottery. It belongs to the Chinese potteries which are transmutation glazes embracing a type of flambe color. These glazes differ from red to a delicate pink, which is peachblow. Peachblow products have realized prize amounts in salesrooms, and many of these pieces are exhibited in museums. They are no longer made. Originally peachblow was made in King-te-Chin and was considered as a perfect example of potter's art.

COUNTY REUNION TO BE AT SACRAMENTO JUNE 8

The Nevada County Reunion to be held at the state fair grounds in Sacramento on Sunday, June 8th, looks to be quite an elaborate affair according to the advance notices sent out. President William Wicks of the association has announced an imposing list of committees for the affair as follows:

Refreshment Committee: Mrs. J. Irvin, chairman; L. J. Winchester, Stanley Wilcox, Mrs. Hattie Crider, Edwin Irvin, Bart Green, Mrs. F. S Lewis, Mrs. Alice Webster.

Publicity Committee: Harry Hosking, chairman; William Argall, Mrs. F. A. Rundy, Robert Frank, George Haddy.

THOMAS VEITCH PASSES

Thomas Veitch, long time resident of Alleghany, passed away at the Harry Spear home Saturday night. He located in Alleghany in 1859 and had since made his home there up to eight years ago when he came to Nevada City to reside.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon from the Holmes Funeral Home at 3:30.

Frank Davies went to the city Saturday for a week's stay on business.

Bennett Opie was a Nevada City visitor Friday, having business with the county tax collector.

CURNOWS NEARLY MAKE GOOD BOAST WINNING

The fast coming Curnows came within one pin of making good their boast of taking four points from the Willoughby pin spillers on the local alleys last week and so upset the dope can. The latter team was resting securely in second berth in the Elks two county league and now its anybody's battle for the bunting outside of the Werners who look to have the league outdistanced when it comes to making points. Their lead now is quite strong.

Jawn Fortier stretched out his belt and knocked the maples over for a 546 count in the tussle, runnink scores of 178, 172, and 196. Si Jackson was the only bowler on the Willoughby aggregation who could do anything like form and he took second honors for the evening. Tamblyn rolled two good games but the breaks were against him all evening and some of his best hits went for naught. The Curnows celebrated prior to the evening's festivities with a big raviola dinner and that may have had something to do with their pin spilling ability. They have been an in and out team up to the last two weeks but now look to have the scoring fever which may carry them through to a better finish than they looked capable of at the outset

Outside of the Jones team which has been trailing the rear ranks the teams looked to be well balanced throughout and promise some real bowling in the closing of the tournament which has but a short time to go to complete the tourney work for the year.

CARRS GOBBLE THREE MORE FROM RICHARDS

The Percy Carr ten pin artists gobbled three more from the slipping Richards crew last week. Both teams had full strength out for the first time in some weeks but the scores were anything but healthy looking.

Moomey got top honors with a 182 but his other two games were not on the Class A order. Kjorlie got away with a 169 in his maiden effort and showed top totals for the evening play. Walling trotted in second place in pin totals with Moomey a close second and Scheemer as runner up.

To "Turn State's Evidence?"

State's evidence is the evidence produced by the government in criminal prosecution. The term also applies to a person who gives such evidence. When a person implicated in a crime voluntarily confesses his share and gives testimony that will incriminate his accomplices he is said to "turn state's evidence," namely, he becomes a witness for the state. In such cases there is generally an express or implied promise on the part of the authorities that they will not prosecute the witness who thus testifies, or that he will at least be dealt with leniently. Prosecutors do not usually promise such immunity unless there is insufficient evidence to convict the defendant without the testimony in question. —Pathfinder Magazine.

Odd "Break" in Sermon

The former pastor of a Tioga church tells a good one on himself which shows the queer breaks a man can make, even in the pulpit.

The pastor was preaching on "Faith" and among his illustrations of the value of faith declared that "it was by faith that Moses discovered America."

He noticed a smile spread over the faces of the congregation, but couldn't imagine what it was about, and repeated that but for his faith Moses would never have crossed the stormy Atlantic to America.

Having observed that his wife was as much amused as anybody, he promptly asked her on reaching his home what the people were smiling at.

When she told him, he was forced to wonder at the restraint the congregation had shown.—Philadelphia Record.

Paper Barometer

Henley's Twentieth Century Book of Recipes publishes the following method of making a paper barometer: Saturate white blotting paper with the following liquid and then hang up to dry:

Cobalt chloride, 1 ounce; sodium chloride, ½ ounce; calcium chloride, 75 grains; acacia, ¼ ounce; water 3 ounces.

THIS WEEK'S SCHEDULE

Monday

Flynn vs. Curnow at Grass Valley.

Werner vs Jones at Grass Valley

Tuesday

Tyrrell vs. Carveth at Grass Valley.

Thursday

Willoughby vs. Garland at Nevada City.

Henwood vs. Rowe at Grass Valley.

The standings of the teams in the Elks Bowling League is all knotted up with the results of last week. The Werners are easily in front. The Willoughby team which last week was in second place is now tied for second with the Garland team so that the result of the encounter between these two teams on Thursday night on the local alleys will have an important bearing on the pennant race. The Curnows and Flynns are tied for third and they will meet tonight on the Grass Valley alleys. Tied for fourth place are Rowe, Carveth and Henwood.

Salesmanship

Five-year-old Dorothy Rose recently was a very attentive listener while an agent explained to her mother the educational value of a book.

"You must leave this book lying here on the library table, so that the children may have free access to it," he said.

A few days later Dorothy Rose played selling books to mother, and in imitation of the real agent, said:

"Now, missus, you must leave this book lying right on your buffet and the children must have three axes to it."

Famous Early Bishop

Francis Asbury was born at Hamstead Bridge, near Birmingham, England, in 1745. He died at Spotsylvania, Va., in 1816. He came to America as a missionary in 1771. There were then only 316 Methodists in America. When he died he had traveled more than 270,000 miles, preached more than 16,000 sermons, and ordained more than 4,000 Methodist ministers. He never married. Constant travel, limited resources and his zeal in church service were some of the reasons advanced for his single life.

Enthusiasm

The enthusiasm that lifts us as on eagle's wings makes for joyous service. The ability to run, to press forward unweariedly in the chosen course, makes it easy. But to walk day after day, only able to trudge along the right road slowly, while the victors with wings sweep above us, and the strong runners dash by us toward the goal, leaving us far behind—this is hard. To keep courage, press forward and not grow faint-hearted, may at last be the greatest victory of all.

Handn't Changed

He was a stout man, and his feet were big in proportion. He wore stout boots, too, with broad toes. When he went into the boot shop to buy another pair, he found he had some difficulty in getting what he wanted. A dozen pairs were shown him.

"No, no! Square toes—must have square shoes," he insisted.

"But, sir, everybody is wearing shoes with pointed toes. They are fashionable this season."

"I'm sorry," said the stout man, as he prepared to leave the shop. "I'm very sorry to have troubled you, I'm sure. But, you see, I'm still wearing my last season's feet!"—London Tit-Bits.

Had the Wrong Girl

Telephone tact is a necessary acquirement in these modern days, but its exercise occasionally leads to unexpected results. A recent example follows: Late at night the telephone in a home called the householder to the receiver. An obviously feminine voice was just as obviously that of a stranger.

After ascertaining that the caller had been connected with a wrong number, the householder remarked: "This is exasperating, isn't it?"

To his bewilderment the reply came back: "Oh, no; this is Lillian."—New York Sun.

Unprofitable Smartness

A farmer's son who had been sometime at the university came home to visit his parents. Two fowls were placed on the table for supper, and the young student said he could prove that there were really three fowls.

"This," said he, "is one, and this is two, and two and one make three."

"Since you hae made it out sae weel," said his father, "your mother shall hae the first, I'll hae the second, and ye may eat the third yoursel'."

Sophisticated Boyhood

It may be the age in which we are living that is responsible. You can't tell. But in the light of observation the sophistication of the nine-year-old becomes an actuality.

Witness the following:

A window display of a tire house.

Toy automobiles scooting around at an amazing speed. Crowd composed almost entirely of adults peering with obvious amusement.

Two urchins approach from the background. One of them elbows his way to the front. The other is not so successful.

"What is it?" yells the one from the back.

"Aw, just a tire advertisement," says the other with disgust.

Floral Barometers

The sturdy marigolds which enliven our gardens are splendid weather prophets. If the flower is tightly closed in the morning, you may rest assured that there is rain to come, but with true intuition they seem overbold just now in spreading their petals. The scarlet pimpernel is also sensitive to rain, and even an approaching shower will send its petals curling in. From this peculiarity the pimpernel takes its name of the "poor man's barometer." Contrary to these flowers, when the dandelion closes up its petals in the morning, a fine day lies ahead, because it does not like too much sun.

Cause of Hailstorms

The stones which fall during ordinary hailstorms measure from one-eighth to one-half inch in diameter, their size depending upon the violence of the upward columns of air that produce them. Hail, like rain, is caused by the vertical circulation of the air. Rain is formed by the condensation of drops of moisture in cooling air which grow larger as the air rises until they are heavy enough to fall. Each of the drops rises and falls at least once. Hail, which is frozen rain, is caused by the drops being tossed higher.

Electrons in Atom

Physicists of today state that there is evidence that all atoms known have in them a certain definite number of negative electrons and exactly the same number of positive electrons. For instance, the lead atom consists of a positive nucleus charge of 82 units about which 82 electrons revolve; zinc, a nucleus charge of 30 units with 30 revolving electrons; helium, a nucleus charge of 2 units with 2 revolving electrons; sulphur, a nucleus charge of 16 units with 16 revolving electrons; platinum, 78; gold, 79; radium, 88, etc.

Magnetic Poles

The geographical poles are the points at the imaginary ends of the earth's axis of rotation, lying 90 degrees north and south latitude. The magnetic poles are the points on the earth's surface where the lines of magnetic forces are vertical. They are the ends of the axis of the earth's magnetic polarity. The north magnetic pole is located in latitude 70 degrees north, longitude 97 degrees west, and the south magnetic pole in latitude 72 degrees south, longitude 153 degrees east.

Paper Money

The use of paper money began about 600 years ago in Italy, when the goldsmiths and silversmiths deposited bullion under supervision and the receipts circulated as currency. All the original states issued paper money in Colonial days. The first federal paper money was issued in 1775, under authority of an act of the Continental congress.

WHAT I WOULD DO TO PREVENT FOREST FIRES

By Walter Huson

Forest fires are like a disease. It is easier to prevent them than it is to stop them when they have a good start. Fire is a good servant but a hard master.

Forest fires are not particular what kind of country they burn over. They would just as soon burn through a valuable tract of large timber as go through a patch of valueless brush.

Any person who has ever worked for the Forest Service on a fire realizes what a fire is and does everything in his power to help prevent them. It is not the people who live in the country that are responsible for forest fires, but it is the campers from the cities, who do not know how to arrange a camp fire to prevent fires, or what to do in case of a fire.

People who go on holidays often feel such freedom that they take reckless chances. They gather a few sticks, boil their coffee or fry their fish over the blaze and then forget about the fire. It will go out they think, when perhaps it may smolder for hours until a gust of wind fans it into a flame and it begins to spread over the country.

Anyone who has ever witnessed a real forest fire, who has been half choked by smoke, has seen the anxious faces of the people living near, and has watched the fire fighters in their scorched clothing, as they used their shovels, and axes, ought to need no further education in the necessity for fire prevention.

Thousands of lives have been lost and millions of acres of good timber land have been burned in this country just because campers were careless.

Fire may be fascinating to watch, but it is always dangerous. It must always be treated with care.

Carefulness must begin when the fire is first started. Do not light a fire if there is a wind blowing, for sparks will travel farther than you think. Do not build a fire where there is any chance of its spreading to leaves, dry grass, moss, or wood.

Never build it against a tree or any other object that will burn. Never leave the fire until you are sure that the last spark is out.

SENIOR CLASS NEWS

A senior class meeting was held Wednesday and several points of business were settled.

A decoration committee was chosen for the Senior Ball. Those chosen were Dorothy Tamblyn, Vivian Cerro, Bill Rector, Ann Williams and Holden Pierce.

A committee consisting of Thelma Boreham, Lena Ghidotti and Addison Janes, was chosen for the Senior Banquet.

The seniors also voted on and accepted their class motto.

POSTER CONTEST

The results of the Junior Prom poster contest were announced Tuesday. Marie Odgers made the winning poster and received the prize, which consisted of two tickets to the Junior Prom. The poster has been placed in the window of Dickerman's Drug Store.

MOTHER'S DAY TEA

A tea for the mothers of the high school pupils will be given at Nevada City High School, May 9. The tea will be given in the evening and will be under the auspices of the Girls' Association.

An art exhibit will be given the same week and the mothers will be able to view it also. A small admission price will be asked for the exhibit but there will be no admission price for the tea.

Mr. and Mrs. James Snell, former residents of Nevada City arrived from Hollister. Attorney Snell is here on professional business.

Mrs. C. F. Scheemer is visiting relatives in San Francisco.

PROGRAM GIVEN

Wednesday evening April 23, a very interesting program was given at the high school. The program was given under the auspices of the Masons and was one of the observances of Public Schools Week.

Mrs. R. J. Bennett was in charge of the program. He opened the program with a short talk on the origin and observance of Public Schools Week. Mr. Bennetts first introduced a group of first and second grade children. Under the direction of Miss O'Neil they sang three songs, 'Jennie Wren", "We Are Little Flowers" and "The School Room Clock".

The second number on the program was two songs by the third grade, "Health Song" and "Poliy Wogs".

Mr. Bennetts then introduced the speaker, Professor W. F. Meyers. Professor Meyers gave a very interesting illustrated lecture upon the solar system and the coming eclipse.

Professor Meyers said that although a knowledge of the solar system is not necessary in every day life, everyone should have some knowledge of it. He told how the verious planets had been named by the ancients after their various gods goddesses and heroes. He said also that a great deal of interest in the solar system has been aroused recently by the discovery of a new planet and the coming eclipse of the sun.

The last number on the program was two songs by Mrs. Gove Celio accompanied by Miss Brand. She sang, "Sing On", and "Love's Old Sweet Song".

A large number of people were present and expressed themselves highly pleased with the entertainment.

ATHLETICS

Coach Pedersen at the high school has arranged althletic events with Grass Valley high school. The first event is a track and field meet to be held April 29. Coach Pedersen has also arranged a baseball series with Grass Valley. The first game is to be played May 5 between the unlimited teams of the two schools The C and D combined teams will play Grass Valley C team on the following day.

Since the high school students have taken so much interest in tennis, Coach Pedersen has arranged for plays in the different classes singles and doubles champions will be determined and arrangements are being made with Grass Valley for inter-school games.

TENNIS PLAYOFFS

With all of the entries for the tennis singles in, Coach Pedersen has arranged playoffs. The following have signed up and will play off:

1. Beegel vs. Sandow
2. Greathouse vs. Baker
3. Jim Davis vs. Rector
4. Jeffrey vs. Edgar Davey
5. Tamblyn vs. Hoskin
6. Joe Sbaffi vs. Macari
7. Cal Fisher vs. Hieronimous
8. Masters vs. Janes
9. Murchie vs. Polglase

The winner of the first match will play the winner of the second match That winner will play the winner of the next two matches and so on until all but one player are eliminated.

These are players of the seventh period class.

Doubles playoffs are also being arranged.

TUESDAY'S ASSEMBLY

Nevada City High School held a very busy assembly on Tuesday. Members of the Grass Valley student body were present for the purpose of extending an invitation to their barn dance Friday night. The guests said this dance would be an enjoyable affair and all the Nevada City students were urged to attend. The admission was fifty cents for dancers and twenty-five cents for spectators.

Mr. Wilson also announced the program which was given at the high school Wednesday night.

George W. Erway and T. C. Bigelow of North Columbia were business visitors in Nevada City recently

Charles Elliott was called to Seattle by the serious illness of his mother.

SCHOOL NEWS

After a week's vacation the attendance of Nevada City High School is almost one-hundred percent, which is the best average for this year, as only four students are absent.

This week examinations are being held for the last six week's report card period.

The track and baseball field received its annual scraping Tuesday, thanks to the Forest Service which supplied the necessary implements to carry out the work. The work was done by Alan Gracey and Bob Hughes.

Luxury, It Would Seem, Depends on Viewpoint

Recently the Woman passed through one of the poor sections of New York at 3 o'clock, just when hundreds of school children were being released. Directly ahead of her three little girls strolled. One of them, a pale child who looked as if sunlight and vegetables were not part of her daily regime, was conducting a monologue. In a high pitched, excited voice she was describing a bedspread which had been sent as a gift to the child's mother.

"It's so bee-utiful, like sunshine. All smooth and golden. It's like that. Look here!"

The children with the Woman—just a step away—stopped before a dingy store. Its window displayed a bedspread, cheap, coarse, glaring yellow.

"Isn't it lovely?" the little girl asked.

The woman had visions of a poor back apartment into which the sun never peeped. To its occupants that golden bedspread stood for every luxury of life. The woman looked from the happy face of the child to the spread. Perhaps it was not so glaring if you saw it from the right angle.—New York Sun.

Advises Use of Slogan to Overcome Dejection

Slogans are advocated as an aid to a healthy mental outlook by James D. Weinland, who considers their effect and lists a number in an article in Hygeia Magazine.

A good slogan can brighten our whole horizon, fill us with courage and be an emotional stimulus. It directs and holds the attention to a bracing thought. For instance, when a man is down in the dumps it is comforting to think that "the men who try to do something and fail are infinitely better than those who try to do nothing and succeed," or that "there are more chances and opportunities in life than we know."

There are slogans hidden away in the world's literature that fit almost any mood or desire, says Mr. Weinland. Proverbs are rich in them. Poems are jeweled with them. Each person must select the ones that mean most to him. Used at the right time the words can penetrate like a sharp dart into a mood and dissipate it. They act like a bugle call marshaling the forces of our resolution and ordering them into action.

French Enjoy Fishing

No fewer than 10,000 fishermen took part in a competition and congress which was held at Vichy, writes the Paris correspondent of the London Sunday Observer. The number is not only sufficient to show what a placid person the Frenchman really is—at least when he reaches a certain age—but also that he has a natural passion for sport. I do not mean sport as he understands the word, for he does not really care about games, but sport in the sense of shooting and fishing. Game shooting is far more a pursuit of the whole people of France than in England, and there is hardly a middleaged Frenchman who is not a fisherman.

Minimum of Waste in Sardine-Canning Plant

In a Down East sardine canning factory the only thing that is wasted is the odor. That may not be a dead loss, for there are persons who assert they like the smell of a sardine factory. The scales are sold to the manufacturers of artificial pearls. The fish meal is in demand in Germany and in this country. The waste oil is collected and utilized in the production of paints and varnishes. Even the tin cuttings from the cans are baled and shipped to England for reprocessing into new sheets of the metal.

Down East sardines are sent to 95 different countries. In Java, when representatives sought a new market, the natives would have nothing to do with the "little fishes boiled in oil." Two hundred free cases were offered if the prospective customers would place a 1,000 case order. At last the deal was made. The sardines were heaped high on trucks, together with a band of native musicians, taken from bazaar to bazaar, and sold. Thus introduced, there was no further difficulty in adding Java to the list of sardine consumers.—New York Times.

Hard to Grasp Facts of the Stellar System

At first the brain reels a little in the attempt to grasp the facts of the stellar system, even explained with the lucidity and exactness of which Sir James Jeans is a master. From the vast extensions of the sky he carries us into the inmost recesses of the atom, where the electron whirls around its perpetual circuit several thousand million times every second. These numbers, says the London Spectator, are but dazzle painting, and it is simpler to say that the electron travels as far in a second as our latest seaplane travels in an hour. Sir James Jeans has a happy fertility in such comparisons, and forcibly strikes the imagination when he tells us that if the carbon atom were magnified to the size of Waterloo station, its electrons would be represented by six wasps flying round in the vast vacuity. All the rest is emptiness; and so in the celestial spaces it is immense odds against any given spot being occupied. "We live in a gossamer universe; pattern, plan and design are there in abundance, but solid substance is rare."

One of Life's Tragedies

They sat gazing into each other's eyes. At last he slipped from the sofa and, kneeling at her feet, gave utterance to the sweeping thoughts that were swelling up his mind.

"Darling," he said, "sometimes I think how lucky I was to be born in the same century as you, to have met you. It seems as if Fate had intended us for each other since the beginning of time, and that at last the great design has been completed in our love. It has been Fate, my dearest, Fate."

"Aye," she replied, a little wistfully, "it was fate all right. Your fate. If I hadna trippit over your fate jumpin' on the bus . . ."

And they pondered over the tragedy of might have beens.—London Tit-Bits.

Hoarding Food

The habit of burying food is one that several wild animals possess. It is evidently a trait handed down from the time when England was in a grip of continual ice. At that time the hunter ate all he could, then buried the rest, returning to it when hungry. Nowadays the weasel will still far more than it can eat, and it still buries the surplus, but, unlike its ancestors it does not return to the store as there is plenty of fresh food to be obtained.—London Tit-Bits

SCHOOL EXHIBIT WAS FINE ONE THROUGHOUT

As has been the custom for a number of years past the Washington Grammar School held its annual exhibit on Wednesday, Thursday and mented favorably on the work shown.

The First Grade exhibited some original interperative drawings some of which marked talent. The second grade had various drawings to show as did the Third grade together with booklets on clothing. The Fourth Grade among many other things had some clever carvings in soap depicting the missions of California.

In the upper grades besides the very creditable drawing work done under the direction of Miss Noyes more of the technical work was shown. Sewing by the Fifth graders under Miss Janes direction and some neatly made dresses by Eighth Grade girls were also on exhibit.

All in all the exhibit was one of which both the teachers and pupils could be proud to show to parents and friends.

THE SCOUT COLUMN

The regular troop meeting of Nevada City Troop 6, B. S. A. was an enthusiastic one last Wednesday evening with practically the full membership present. The troop is prospering now and several of the boys have acquired merit badges for proficiency in different lines of endeavor in addition to their regular Scout work and several more are working for them. These subjects include basic knowledge in practically every craft and one of the local boys is perfecting himself for a merit badge in interpreting.

The troop committee of Hydraulic Parlor of Native Sons has secured four adults to sponsor the four patrols of the local troop. One of these men will devote one evening each week to a patrol meeting of the boys in his particular patrol. In this way closer contacts will be made with the boys and it is expected that faster and better progress will be the result.

The boys were taken on a hike yesterday as a troop project, the main subject to be the study of botany under a local expert. Several of the Scouts also met the requirements of the cooking test for the first time and the others added to their knowledge of camp craft.
